Common Sense in Advertising.

A model advertisement is designed to satisfy the rational demand of a probable customer to know what you have to sell. The successful advertiser, therefore, observes these rules: First he aims to furnish the information which the public wants; second, he aims to reach that part of the public whose wants he is prepared to satisfy; and third, he endeavors to make his information as easy of acquisition by the public as possible.

The commonest and handiest thing in the American family is the newspaper, and as nearly all shopping proceeds from the family from its needs, its intelligence, its tastes, its fashions, it follows that the thoughtful advertiser approaches the family by this means. He does not waste his money and his time in loading his advertising gun and shooting it off skyward in the street, at the creation, or the chance that some willing customer may be passing that way, and may be brought down; on the contrary he takes account of the advertising ammunition which he has on hand, and loads and points his gun, through the columns of some reputable newspaper, at the game he wants to hit.

Besides knowing that newspapers are the best means of advertising, and how to pick out the best newspapers for his purpose, the successful advertiser fully appreciates the importance of persistent advertising. Mr. Bryant used to say that the great influence of the press depends, for one thing, upon its power of repetition. Presenting the same subject in many forms, it finally wins attention and acquiescence. Used in this thorough and systematic way, the advertising columns of the newspapers are as useful and essential to the merchant, as a means of telling the public what he has to sell, as the clerk behind the counter is to show his goods when the people come to examine them.—New York Post.

Hades a Compromise.

Boston Globe.

In an interview a few days ago Col. Ingersoll was asked if he thought that orthodox people still believe in the old doctrine of eternal punishment, to which question he gave the following answer:

"I am afraid that the old idea is dying out, and that many Christians are slowly giving up the consolations naturally springing from the old belief. Another terrible blow to the old infamy is the fact that in the revised New Testament the consoling word hell has been left out. I am informed that in the revised New Testament the word Hades has been substituted. As nobody knows exactly what Hades means it will not be quite so easy to frighten people at revivals by threatening them with something they don't clearly understand. After this when the impassioned orator cries out that all the unconquered will be sent to Hades, the poor sinners, instead of getting frightened will begin to ask each other what and where that is. It will take many years of preaching to clothe that word in all the terrors and horrors, pains and penalties and pangs of hell. Hades is a compromise in a concession to the philosophy of our day. It is a graceful acknowledgment to the growing spirit of investigation—that hell, after all, is a barbaric mistake. Hades is the death of revivals. It cannot be used in song. It won't rhyme with anything with the same force that hell does. It is altogether more shadowy than hot. It is not associated with brimstone and flame. It sounds somewhat indistinct, somewhat lonesome, a little desolate, but not altogether uncomfortable. For revival purposes Hades is simply useless, and few conversions will be made in the old way under the revised Testament."

The Bad Boys and the Good Old Man

Hartford Courant.

"Any chestnuts round here?" asked one of three boys who met an aged, benevolent-looking farmer out in Montgomery county. The old man hesitated. "You don't want to steal 'em?" he asked. "Oh, no! We just wanted to find out." "Well there's a few trees back there; but if I thought you wanted to steal 'em I wouldn't have told you, for the owner has gone to town. But you're bright-looking lads." The boys blushed with the pride of honest goodness. "When will the owner be back?" "Well, not before dark, I reckon." The boys thanked the old man, waited till he got out of sight, jumped the fence, and were soon shaking down the burrs. At last the boys had a splendid pile of handsome brown nuts on the ground, and they prepared to put them in the bags they brought with them. "Please don't take any more trouble," said the benevolent old man who stood by the fence. "I'm not so strong as I once was, and I fear I can't hold in this dog much longer. Down, Tige, sir!" At the boys looked back from the railroad fence they could see the stooping figure of the old man scooping the rich brown chestnuts into a two-bushel bag.

Women Never Think. If the crabbled old bachelor who uttered this sentiment could but witness the intense thought, deep study and thorough investigation of women in determining the best medicine to keep their families well, and would note their sagacity and wisdom in selecting Hop Bitters as the best, and demonstrating it by keeping their families in perpetual health, at a mere nominal expense, he would be forced to acknowledge that such sentiments are baseless and false.

RELIGION OF JOURNALISTS.

Whitlaw Reid was born a Presbyterian, John R. G. Hassard, of the Tribune, is a Roman Catholic, and has a pew in St. Stephen's church, which is the most fashionable denomination next to the cathedral. Tom Convery, managing editor of the Herald, was brought up in the same faith. Watson R. Sperry, managing editor of the Evening Post, is the son of a Methodist preacher. Manton Marble, former owner and editor of the World, was brought up a Baptist. Edward Eggleston, formerly of the Independent, is a Methodist. James Gordon Bennett is nominally a Roman Catholic, but his life thus far, has shown but little regard for religion in any shape. Hugh Hastings of the Commercial is also a Catholic. Montgomery Schuyler, of the World, is an Episcopalian. William C. Prime, of the Journal of Commerce, being the son of a Presbyterian clergyman and brother of the "Irenaeus" of the Observer, may very reasonably follow the same faith. Dana, of the Sun, was a member of the Brook Farm association (Ripley was another) and has been of the "liberal" method of thinking. He has never made any pretension to piety.

A FEW QUESTIONS.

Rev. Jenvey's discourse of yesterday moves the GAZETTE to sermonize. Although not at all accomplished in that line we should put it something like this:

Miss Smith, did you go to church to show your new bonnet?

Mr. Judkins, can you give an idea of the text?

Is it so, Mr. Smith, that you went merely to show yourself in the place of worship?

Mr. Jones, is it true that you swindled your fellow-man all the week and hope to erase that history by making your responses in a loud clear voice?

Miss Simpkins, did you merely move your lips, or did you sing and pray?

Mr. Doe was that quarter you put in the plate the same which you wrung from your poor neighbor Hopkins by usury?

Was it true that all or any of you felt a generous contempt for other sinners, and reasonably sure of your own salvation, notwithstanding the doings of the week last finished?

There is more of this sermon which we may be moved to publish. These are merely a few questions suggested by yesterday's sensible discourse.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

It is rumored in Washington that General Grant was early advised by telegraph of the resignation of Senators Conkling and Platt and invited to return from Mexico immediately in order to take part in Conkling's programme. It is further stated that he has telegraphed his acceptance of the request, and that he will shortly return to New York, and thereupon be announced as a candidate for election to the United States Senate from that State, or exert his utmost influence to procure the reelection of Conkling and Platt. Rumor also says that the programme will be for Platt to decline reelection in favor of Grant, and that the Stalwarts will endeavor to send Grant and Conkling to the Senate together.

Ingersoll says: "Most of the orthodox creeds were born of bad cooking. Bad food produces dyspepsia, and dyspepsia produced Calvinism, and Calvinism is the cancer of Christianity. Oat meal is responsible for the worst features of Scotch Presbyterianism. Half-cooked beans account for the religion of the puritans. Fried bacon and saleratus biscuit underlie the doctrine of States Rights. Lent is a mistake, fasting is a blunder and bad cooking is a crime."

The order to show cause why the diamante in the Burke-Bonanza case should not be vacated was dismissed Friday by Judge Sullivan in the Superior Court, San Francisco, and the petition of Peter Christy, to be allowed to intervene in suits, was denied. Counsel for Christy took exception to the order. The effect of the order is that the suits are dismissed and finally settled, unless appeal be taken to the Supreme Court.

Miss Mackay, daughter of "Bonanza" Mackay, is the original of a picture painted by M. Cabanel, for the Paris saloon, this season. She is represented as a young girl with fair hair, in a white dress against a blue ground, with a halo around her head. The work is said to remind one of a virgin on the stained glass window of a cathedral.

Blaine invented the application of the word stalwart. Two or three years ago in one of his bloody-shirt speeches he spoke of the "stalwart Republicanism of New England." Now the "tother fellows claim his thunder."

The Chronicle denounces the Garfield Conkling fight because it is for the "spoils." Yet all over the country one hears the clashing of Bourbon teeth whose owners are crazy to get in.—Appeal.

The Carson Times has retired from the law business and gone to publishing reminiscences of Beaconsfield once more. Judge King overruled the little man on the injunction matter.

The Reno Gazette seems to lean toward Conkling.—Sentinel.

We are leaning towards him merely to see that Blaine don't gouge.

The Eureka papers are indulging in local soba and hysterical jottings over the death of Christopher Columbus 375 years ago.

All Hail.

It hailed yesterday and Harv. Tompkins was naturally nudging his brain to recall the boss hailstone. He had then, as large as eggs and was very proud of himself until Tannehill remembered a storm on the Platte river in 1890. This storm knocked the bottom out of a wash-tub and Tannehill took a tape line and measured the stones. He does not remember the measurement but they were as large as his head.

A Scarcity of Financiers, Not of Eggs
Galveston News.

Up on the railroad between Galveston and Austin they tell that Jay Gould and his party stopped at a farm house along the line of the railroad to get some fresh eggs and milk. The party furnishing the refreshments wanted $50 a dozen for his eggs. Jay Gould remarked that eggs must be scarce, to ask such a price for them.

"There are plenty of eggs here," responded the genial host, "but feller like you, that can afford to pay such prices, are scarce. That's why eggs are worth $50 a dozen on this joyous occasion."

Fellows' Syrup of Hypophosphites saved the life of my wife, after her case became apparently hopeless from Tubercular Consumption. Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites rapidly improved the weakened functions and organs of the body which depend for health upon voluntary and involuntary nervous action.

"I Don't Want That Stuff."
Is what a woman of Boston said to her husband when he brought home some medicine to cure her "rick headache" and neuralgia which had made her miserable for fourteen years. At first attack thereafter it was administered to her with such good results that she continued to use it until cured, and was made so enthusiastic in its praise that she induced twenty-two of the best families in her circle to adopt it as their regular family medicine. "That stuff" is Hop Bitters.

The staging of the "false trestle" of the railway bridge now being built over the Yamhill at Lafayette, by the Oregon Railway Company, came down with a crash one day lately, crippling one man and delaying the work.

The Oregonian is in receipt of the following dispatch. "In view of the formal recognition consummated Thursday on the Northern Pacific Railroad, I deem it proper to give to the public of Washington Territory the formal assurance that every obligation imposed upon the Company by the Act of Congress will be strictly recognized, and especially that the Cascade branch will be built without fail. HENRY VILLARD."

TERRITORIES.

Mrs. Clay, who was hurt at Blalock's tie camp recently, is fatally injured. Miguel Signio was hanged at Florence, Pinal county, Arizona, Saturday. His neck was broken, and he expired without a struggle.

The latest report from Klickitat county, W. T., states that great numbers of grasshoppers have appeared in that section.

Curly Bill, a noted desperado and cowboy, was killed at Galesville, Arizona, Thursday afternoon by his partner, Jim Wallace. Both had been drinking heavily and quarreled.

Work on the North Pacific Railroad beyond Ainsworth, W. T., is being crowded forward with all possible vigor. Cars will be running into Spokane Falls by June 1st.

WOOD AND LUMBER.

A Discouraging Outlook for Men Who are Looking for Work and Praying They May Not Find It.

The Bodie and Mono Railroad is to be completed by Sept. 15, at a cost of $500,000. The road will be 31 1/4 miles long and will tap the Mono timber belt for the Bodie market. The Company has already engaged for the cutting and delivery of 30,000 cords of wood and 7,000,000 feet of lumber. This work will employ about 300 men and 400 men are asked for in order that the Bodie and Mono Railroad may be completed at an early day. The Company has about 14,000 acres of fine land, and it will take four or five years to complete the cutting of the timber. Messrs. Yerrington, Graves and Cook Bros. are conducting the enterprise and Chas. Gilchrist, who has been in charge of the wood and flume business at Brown's Station for years, will superintend and control the wood and lumber operations. Gilchrist's energy and business ability are too well known in Washoe to need comment, and the other names connected with the enterprise are a sufficient guarantee that the work will be done. There is no excuse in Nevada for idle men.

The State Treasury.

The moneys in the State Treasury were counted by Governor Kinkaid and Secretary Babcock on Thursday and found to be correct, according to the books of the State Controller. Here is the statement: Coin, $143,180 27; paid coin vouchers not returned to Controller, $124,405 56; irredeemable Nevada State School bonds, $380,000; Nevada State bonds, $25,000; United States bonds, $100,000; total, $772,535 83.

Excursion Tickets.

Tickets for the grand temperance excursion to San Francisco on the Fourth of July are to be had at the following places; price for the round trip, $13: Cagwin & Notermans, Carson; John F. Aiken, Reno; Postoffice book store, Gold Hill, and Wertheimer's cigar store, opposite Odd Fellows' Hall, Virginia City.

ACROSS THE PLAINS.

An Improvement in Wyoming—A New Route to Oregon and Other Matters. Correspondence.

A trip overland is an event. Outside of a few officials and mining experts very few citizens of the Pacific Coast find time for visits to their old homes in eastern states. More than once in a decade, and many pride themselves on the length of time they can stay away. The high fares, the tedious week of constant riding and the difficulty of watching one's business from a distance renders it a great task, and when a body finally does get started they feel as if every one else took a great interest in all that excited them and they want to tell all about it. So many able writers have gone over the ground, however, that there is no object in describing the brown sage brush stretches of Nevada, the Great Lake, or Mormon farms of Utah; or the canyons of the Wahsatch, unless from some peculiar excellence in style a man's admirers want the old fact told in his new way, as there is no inducement in my case I will keep my eyes open for new things and refer our readers to the overland guide for the old. It strikes me very forcibly that there is an immense improvement in Wyoming Territory. There is a very much heavier growth of grass than I ever saw there before. There is very little sage brush compared to Nevada, and the rich feed covers the ground like a carpet, old settlers say that the climate is changing, that the winters are wetter and there are more summer rains. The climate is very frosty, however, so grain and fruit will not ripen. A change of climate would be of much greater benefit to Nevada than Wyoming, for it is not near so high and has much less frost. The change may be significant from the fact that scientists claim that Nevada's climate is changing but they cannot say whether it is a geological change or a rapid one. If a change is taking place we may yet see grain fields that live without irrigation. It may be that the loss of timber on the Sierras will have the effect of allowing more moisture to come over and be deposited in Nevada. The Union Pacific is just starting in to find a line from Granger station to Oregon to head off the Northern Pacific and take all it can from the Central. A large camp has been established and the work will be pushed ahead. When the line is built it will be run as the main line with a branch to Ogden to connect with the Central Pacific. If the Nevada & Oregon runs up and connects with it and the Northern Pacific both, and the Carson & Colorado with the Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe, Reno will get the benefit of competition. The Union Pacific track is getting very rough and the time is very slow. They only run 18 miles an hour, while the Central Pacific runs over 26. Some little steel rail is being laid. This is a good time to travel. There is no dust and the nights are cool enough to sleep well.

Church Music.

The Trinity Church Choir, as organized and led by Miss Eva Quaff is very much beyond the average. When practice has brought about a little more harmony between the singers, Reno will have as fine a church choir as can be heard in the State. The congregation of Trinity Church are already fortunate in the unselfish efforts of Miss Quaff, and the GAZETTE hopes the younger members of the choir may persevere. The old idea that church music consisted in every man, woman and child yelling "Nearer My God to Thee" through the nose, is dead. May it rest in peace. The sermon delivered by Rev. Jenvey yesterday was a deserved rebuke to certain people—in Arizona—who put on religion with their Sunday coats.

A Card.

The undersigned have this day formed a copartnership under the firm name of Fred Levy & Bro., and will continue the dry goods business heretofore carried on by Sol Levy, on a very extensive scale. We respectfully ask a continuance of the patronage bestowed on the former firm.

SOL LEVY,
FRED LEVY.

Good Indian.

An Indian died on Saturday last near W. M. Boardman's house. He was not buried until this morning. It would seem proper that in the burial of the dead the questions of health for the living, and humanity, ought to obtain more weight than the burial fee.

GOING NOWHERE.

A Demented Creature Who Waits for Trains That Never Come.

In the Depot waiting room sits a lone woman. Her pinched and colorless face has all the traces of pain and sorrow, and of some great grief which left her only when reason fled. Each day she is there in travelling dress, satchel in hand, waiting for trains that never come. She says her name is Maggie E. English, she came from the West, and wants to go—she knows not where. She has been fed at the Hotel, and taken to the County hospital, but "the train, the train," and once more to the waiting room, there to sit alone and silent listening for the train. One cannot help thinking of the great wrong or suffering which may have caused the pitiable condition of the poor creature, and the family or friends who are also expecting the train which never comes. She has sat there for a week listening and watching, crouched down on the bench, while trains have passed and repassed, and hundreds of people have walked about her.

"Is the train in yet?"

"It has been gone two hours, madam. 'Won't you come and eat something?"

"Oh, I'm not overly hungry."

"Where do you come from?"

"St. Mary's home or hospital in San Francisco."

"Where do you go?"

"I want to go to some city, the nearest city to New York, where I can get employment. I came from Iowa. The train, the train, is it gone?" asked the poor woman as she eagerly scanned the well-worn railroad guide.

"Yes, madam, two hours ago."

With a weary sigh the wasted form again sinks down and the vigil is resumed. A part of the world, and no part. No friends, no mind, going nowhere. The last train will soon come.

Police Court.

Frank Hoge was arraigned before Magistrate Young to-day for being unemployed and having a large amount of leisure on his hands. The merciful Judge sentenced him to ten days in the county calaboose. The prisoner seemed to be really in search of work and told a very plausible story.

James Judkins was arrested last night by officer Ross for handing fire water to the aborigines. He said the Indian was cold and needed heating, so he procured the stimulant from the best of motives. He had visited San Francisco but not liking the climate concluded to return to God's country east of the Rocky Mountains. He had merely tarried here for repose.

Runaways.

Yesterday afternoon R. P. M. Kelly's horse ran away from the Arlington Nursery, and was not stopped until he reached the bridge and had broken a spring in the wagon.

This morning "Pride of Reno," sire Yellow Dog, dam unknown, the property of Mr. Ware, took to his heels in a very giddy manner and fled for half a block. A general alarm was sounded and 37 men were clinging to the panting steed when he anchored. Somebody has wrung in an oat on that horse.

Hoppers Stop a Mill.

As an expert says, "the hopper is suited to all kinds of business; he will eat anything from a fuchsia to green paint." Tom Julien says they flesh up amazingly on quicksilver. The hoppers recently tackled the Emerald mill and three of them went down into the pump valve to eat the vacuum. The rod came down and sat on them and then refused to work. It was necessary to stop the machine and take out the valve.

Bric-a-Brac.

Last week was decoration season at the Depot Hotel. The dining-room walls were covered with a neat pattern of Japanese wall-paper and the appearance of the room was very much improved thereby. The ceiling will next be lightened by some appropriate frescoing and Reno will have the best looking railroad dining-room on the line. Chamberlain has long been ahead on the mere matter of fare.

From Idaho.

C. C. Monroe has returned from Idaho and gone to Pyramid. He reports that country as looking very well. The trouble with Wood River will be known. All heavy freighting has to go by Boise now. Monroes will stay in Washoe. The Jones party from Reno, arrived in Boise City on Thursday last all safe and sound.

"I AM GUILTY"

A Man Who Wants the Gazette to Say That He Stole Cattle, and Cooombs of Carson is Innocent.

The GAZETTE has received the following letter. It bears the postmark of Reno, May 21. It is published as written, and it would be well if our officers could learn who the writer may have been. He evidently has a friend in Reno who posted the letter:

RENO, Nevada, May 14, 1881.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE RENO GAZETTE:—Dear Sir—Will you be kind enough to insert a few lines in your paper for the Benefit of a man that is now held in the Carson Jail to appear before the grand Jury under the charge of grand Larceny for stealing cattle which he is not guilty of as I sold those cattle to his wife and received my money for the same. I sold her sixteen head of Cattle for the sum of one hundred and twelve dollars Gold Coin those cattle I repented to him that I raised which I did not it is no matter how I obtained them but as far as he is concerned he is innocent of the charge brought against him, and I am guilty of the act myself. The cattle when delivered was in the hills across the Carson river south East of Carson City I sold those cattle to Mrs. Julia Combs of Carson City and gave her bill of sale for the same and under the plea of Mr. Combs that he so situated that if his creditors knew that he had this property they would attach and sell the same and leave his family destitute I gave him full and free consent to use my name in any way that he might see fit. Either verbal or otherwise which I wrote on the back of the bill of sale but the name I gave him was not my own name it was assumed name and I used that all the way through which is not my right name my partner also sold her ten head of Cattle for the sum of sixty dollars there was one in that lot that was rather weak and small which he threw in which made eleven in all but we sold those cattle and got our money for the same my partner used the name of Stevens which is not his name. The reason for my making those statements is that we are leaving the country and this letter will not be mailed for some time after we leave here. when we was driving those cattle to Daton we met him but he did not recognize us as we had cut off our whiskers but we knew him and also the cattle and before this reaches you we will be hundreds of miles away consequently we make this statement for his benefit hoping that this will be the means of liberating him from custody as he is innocent in every respect.

WILLIAM X STEVENS,

"Our German Senator."

Gus. Williams will appear at the Nevada Theatre to-night in the above play. It is stated to be an amusing piece, and Williams makes a vast deal of fun. The telephone is introduced in the play and a great deal of fun is extracted from it. The New York Herald says of the piece: "The little sketch, which is very simple in itself, is written purely with the object in view of bringing out the inexhaustible fund of wit and humor which brims over in Mr. Williams' facial German character representations. He personates J. Adolph Dinkel, a retired Western brewer of wealth, but who is deficient in education or knowledge of the ways of the world. In spite of himself he is made a candidate for Senator by the firm of Bruce & Spruce, land owners and Pension Agents, who have their axes to grind in the event of his election. It is during his candidacy chiefly that the most ludicrous incidents of the performance are brought out.

Harvest Feast.

The Grangers of Beckworth had their annual harvest feast recently at Bringham's. The public exercises consisted of singing and an address, "Why we hold a Harvest Feast," by A. B. Huntley. Large delegations from Loyalton, Summit, Clover Valley, Humboldt Valley and Sierra generally, were present. Sam Crow won the 100 yard foot race. Sack races, etc., filled the afternoon and helped to complete a very happy day.

N. & O.

The N. & O. R. R. is progressing rapidly. Over two miles are already graded ready for the laying of ties, and the iron is forthcoming. About 250 men are now employed, including carpenters, and the grading of five miles will be completed in about two weeks. Engineer McClellan's brother, from Oakland, will arrive soon and make his home here.

Business Change.

Fred Levy and Sol Levy have united under the firm name of Fred Levy & Bro. They will carry on the old business in dry goods, but on an enlarged scale. The Levy brothers are quite popular in Reno.

Mining Notes.

The Con Emerald has struck a body of ore in the east drift finer than any previously discovered. The mill has crushed between 70 and 80 tons of ore, and begins the work of cleaning up to-day. Superintendent Julien thinks the result entirely satisfactory. The GAZETTE is informed that the Crown Prince has also struck a very fine body of ore at Pyramid.

Negotiations for the transfer of the Unit mine, near the Emma, are pending with Eastern parties.

"Cuds" to Order.

Blakely has invented a curious appliance which furnishes prepared "cuds" for cows. The machine counts and sorts the article for instantaneous use. The machine was invented because of information received from Evans and McInnis to the effect that if a cow lost her cud she would die. Blakely thought it a shame that cow life should be thus imperiled, and has taken out a caveat on the appliance. He has studied on the machine for years.

Herodism and Chivalry.

From the Philadelphia Times.

The following incident of the battle of Fredericksburg is well authenticated. It may prove that, though the north and south were at war, a spirit of chivalry did exist among the southern soldiers: "On the 15th day of December 1862, the Sixteenth Regiment and three companies of the Second Battalion of Featherstone's Mississippi brigade were sent to the front to relieve a brigade posted at the foot of Marye's Heights to the left of the plank road leading from the city toward Orange Court House. Between them and the city was a tanyard and many outbuildings. Much sharp-shooting was indulged in on both sides, opportunities being afforded us by squads of Federals, who in twos or threes, kept moving rapidly from behind extemporized shelters to their rear, posted in the city limits proper. While a squad of these were being shot, one of them was seen to drop, while all his companions but one, taking advantage of our empty rifles, soon got to cover behind the houses. This brave fellow seeing his comrades fall, deliberately faced about, and, dropping his rifle, assisted his friend to rise, and together they slowly sought the rear. As they moved off a score or more rifles were leveled at them with deadly intent, but before a single one could be discharged our Col., Carnot Posey, commanded, 'Cease firing; that man is too brave to be killed; and then with characteristic admiration for the brave fellow, we gave him a hearty cheer, to which he replied by a graceful wave of his cap as he and his comrade passed behind the protection of an outbuilding. I have often thought of this brave act and wondered if he escaped a soldier's death and lived to become an acknowledged leader among men."

Eleven-Year Locusts.

All the grand divisions of the earth are more or less subject to injury from locusts, but the areas of their most destructive action are to be found in northern Africa, western Asia, southern Europe, and our trans-Mississippi states. It is a curious fact that if we note all the dates of the great general invasions of all the regions specified, the interval in each case is very nearly a multiple of eleven years. There is reason to believe, however, that this apparent periodicity is purely accidental, and would not hold good if tested by the more authentic and minute records kept in recent times.

Pluthers of Money.

New York Graphic.
These are very extraordinary times. People really do not know what to do with their money. Here are consols selling at 102 3/4-16 in London—that is, a premium of 2 1/2-16 is paid for a three per cent. security running, if one pleases, forever. And here is the leading stock bank of London—the London and Westminster—buying $1,000,000 to our three and a half per cent. extended bonds at 101, and a prominent Montreal bank also taking the same amount at the same figure. These are at once indications of the plethora of money and the cautiousness of investors.
